The community is invited to TractionSpace’s grand opening celebration from 4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, January 29. Guests can expect to see the latest workspace configurations and amenities. TractionSpace offers ergonomic, remote office setups that small businesses and individuals often can’t access or afford.

“Small companies and entrepreneurs often experience isolation and a lack of professional resources,” said TractionSpace CEO and Partner, Don Morrison. “TractionSpace fills this void by offering personal development opportunities, continuing education and networking-focused environments within a friendly and supportive business community.”

Members can expect regularly scheduled networking events, personal wellness briefings and industry experts covering current business topics. TractionSpace organizers are also planning entrepreneur-in-residence programs, business coaching and executive mentoring to help businesses and individuals navigate successfully into the future.

“We believe that members should have access to rich content and events that help their business grow, move past roadblocks and gain market traction,” said Morrison.

Members will enjoy premium amenities including high-speed Wi-Fi, conference rooms with VoIP phones, a full video content production studio, communal workspaces and lounge areas, a mothers’ lounge, and Café Azure, an onsite café scheduled to open January 13. Membership plans start at $75 per month and feature a variety of floor plans and configurations to cover a wide range of needs, from the occasional at-home or remote worker, to new businesses looking for dedicated office space to set up shop.
